Credit is due to the men of Calvary Baptist Church of Grayling for their hours of labor. There were so many friends who helped, as far away as Florida, Ohio, Indiana and many from our community.

Frederic Baptist Church

The new building is a tribute to those who have labored so faithfully. The building, constructed of way-lite block, is 33' by 64', with a 20' by 20' entrance porch. The sanctuary is 10' by 14' and the choir loft is 10' by 14'. The total area is 4,000 sq. ft. of useable floor space.

The floors are vinyl asbestos throughout. The ceilings are of tile in the basement and of white bead board in the sanctuary. Simulated-arches and colored K-lux windows, and a ranch stone front, with planter and shadow block entrance, add to the construction decor. It has a complete hot water heating system, seven class rooms, pastor's study, nursery room, a baptismal tank for immersion services and modern rest room facilities. The sanctuary is lighted by fluorescent lighting throughout, giving a bright and cheerful atmosphere.

NEW COUNTY BUILDING at the end of Michigan Avenue is beginning to take shape. Due to the nearly two month strike, the building is still a little behind schedule, but progressing steadily. According to Olin Williamson, building authority chairman, a target date of November 15 is set to have the building enclosed. This of course, depends upon the weather, or other unforeseeable action. The original completion date was set for April 1, 1969.

The charter was approved on September 11, 1919 and a charter issued October 1, 1920. The post received its colors on Sept. 12, 1922. On March 16, 1925, Mrs. Mary Fehr of the Woman's Relief Corps presented the deed to the G.A.R. Hall to the Legion for use as its post building. This was the present Moose Lodge building on Peninsular Avenue. On July 8, 1926, the Legion voted to allow an Auxiliary to be formed. The vote for and against was pretty close, we are told. In 1932 the first rifles were bought for the Firing Squad. In 1936 a Drum and Bugle Corps of 38 pieces was formed. In 1945 the Legion voted to sponsor its first children's Christmas party. In August of 1947 a bar under club license was opened in the Legion Hall.

Gives View on Selection of Republican Standard Bearer

By Richard Millman
MIAMI BEACH — Whenever a national political convention ends, the order of business for a convention-watcher is: (1) heave a sigh of relief; (2) rest and recuperate; and (3) then sit down and try to figure it out. I've already done Number 1; I'm in the process of Number 2; and herewith offer an attempt at Number 3.

The over-riding impression that sticks with me from the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach is that it was considerably different from the 1964 convention in San Francisco.

In 1964, the key element was intensity. People felt intensely about Sen. Goldwater, the nominee — either for him or against him. They felt intensely about the issues, particularly civil rights and political extremism. The delegate arm-twisting was intense. The arguments were intense. The bitterness surrounding Goldwater's nomination was intense.

But intensity was missing from Miami. The differences surrounding the candidates — Nixon, Rockefeller, Reagan — caused no intense divisions among their backers. The differences came mainly over which of the three was the best; those who backed Rockefeller, for example, argued generally he could do a better job than Nixon in getting elected and in filling the office.

The same generally is true of Reagan backers. When Nixon won, those who had earlier opposed him jumped out no windows; they tightened their belts and got ready to pitch in. The differences were more pragmatic than ideological; even the top emotional issue of our day — Vietnam — created no schism.

Nixon conducted a professionally competent campaign for the nomination. He made few if any mistakes on his way to a first-ballot victory.

And then he picked Gov. Agnew as his running mate, thus surprising almost everybody in Miami Beach and angering more than a few. But the delegates, very properly, ratified their candidate's choice. They should have; after all, he's the guy Nixon wanted, and Nixon is the guy the delegates wanted.

Two points seemed at the base of delegate disenchantment with Agnew's selection. First, Gov. Agnew appears to add exactly zero in the attractiveness of the ticket; he's more of a cipher than an asset. And second, his choice smacks darkly of a deal with southern delegates, epitomized by Sen. Thurmond of South Carolina, who headed Nixon's forces in the south, or with Agnew himself, who threw his support to Nixon at a most strategic moment as the convention opened.

With all the skill that Nixon has displayed so far this year, it is difficult to conclude that he would throw away the assets that a different running mate than Agnew might bring to the Nixon ticket. And in this topsy-turvy political year, Gov. Agnew — or Anastopoulos, as his name was before it was Americanized — may turn out to be a secret weapon. At this point, it's hard to imagine — but so have been many events in this campaign so far.

MICHIGAN'S ROLE — The role of the 48-member Michigan delegation at this convention was centered in the activities of Gov. George Romney, delegation chairman, who wields almost unquestioned direction over Republican affairs in the state, including this convention.

The delegates — except for four from Wayne and Macomb party factions that oppose Romney on everything — performed as Romney hoped they would. They stuck with his favorite-son candidacy through the first ballot, and their votes were not part of the Nixon victory train. Nor were they part of the Rockefeller-Reagan challenges.

One result is that there are no gaping anti-Rockefeller or anti-Nixon wounds to heal in the Michigan party structure, which should enhance the party's efforts in November.

Another result is that nobody will ever know how Romney would have voted, if his vote had been needed. Romney did not really warm up to any of the three top candidates. Nixon strength in Michigan has generally been among the legislators, the older congressmen, and some of the older leaders in the party, generally categorized as conservative; Rockefeller's backers were among the younger, usually liberal Republicans, including present official party leadership. Reagan's backers were from the further right, as Michigan's Republican organization is constituted. In these terms, the differences at this convention were an extension of the liberal-conservative split that has hampered Republican efforts in Michigan for 20 years. But the actions of the delegation at this convention did not bring these differences out in

Gives View on Selection of Republican Standard Bearer

By Richard Milliken

MIAMI BEACH — Whenever a national political convention ends, the order of business for a convention-watcher is: (1) leave a sigh of relief; (2) rest and recuperate; and (3) then sit down and try to figure it out.

I've already done Number 1; I'm in the process of Number 2; and herewith offer an attempt at Number 3.

The over-riding impression that sticks with me from the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach is that it was considerably different from the 1964 convention in San Francisco.

In 1964, the key element was intensity. People felt intensely about Sen. Goldwater, the nominee — either for him or against him. They felt intensely about the issues, particularly civil rights and political extremism. The delegate arm-twisting was intense. The arguments were intense. The same generally is true of Reagan backers. When Nixon won, those who had earlier opposed him jumped out no windows; they tightened their belts and got ready to pitch in. The differences were more pragmatic than ideological, even the top emotional issue of our day — Vietnam — created no schism.

Nixon conducted a professionally competent campaign for the nomination. He made few if any mistakes on his way to a first-ballot victory. And then he picked Gov. Agnew as his running mate, thus surprising almost everybody in Miami Beach and angering more than a few. But the delegates, very properly, ratified their candidate's choice. They should have; after all, he's the guy Nixon wanted, and Nixon is the guy the delegates wanted. Two points seemed at the base of delegate disenchantment with Agnew's selection. First, Gov. Agnew appears to add exactly zero to the attractiveness of the ticket; he's more of a cipher than an asset. And second, his choice smacks darkly of a deal with southern delegates, epitomized by Sen. Thurmond of South Carolina, who headed Nixon's forces in the south, or with Agnew himself, who threw his support to Nixon at a most strategic moment as the convention opened.

With all the skill that Nixon has displayed so far this year, it is difficult to conclude that he would throw away the assets that a different running mate than Agnew might bring to the Nixon ticket. And in this topsy-turvy political year, Gov. Agnew — or Anagostopoulos, as his name was before it was Americanized — may turn out to be a secret weapon. At this point, it's hard to imagine — but so have been many events in this campaign so far.

MICHIGAN'S ROLE — The role of the 48-member Michigan delegation at this convention was centered in the activities of Gov. George Romney, delegation chairman, who yields almost unquestioned direction over Republican affairs in the state, including this convention. The delegates — except for four from Wayne and Macomb party factions that oppose Romney on everything — performed as Romney hoped they would. They stuck with his favorite-son candidacy through the first ballot, and their votes were not part of the Nixon victory train. Nor were they part of the Rockefeller or Reagan challenges.

One result is that there are no gaping anti-Rockefeller or anti-Nixon wounds to heal in the Michigan party structure, which should enhance the party's efforts in November. Another result is that nobody will ever know how Romney would have voted, if his vote had been needed. Romney did not really warm up to any of the three top candidates.

Nixon strength in Michigan has generally been among the legislators, the older congressmen, and some of the older leaders in the party, generally categorized as conservative; Rockefeller's backers were among the younger, usually liberal Republicans, including present official party leadership; Reagan's backers were from the further right, as Michigan's Republican organization is constituted. In these terms, the differences at this convention were an extension of the liberal-conservative split that has hampered Republican efforts in Michigan for 20 years.

But the actions of the delegation at this convention did not bring these differences out in the open; thus, they will not have to be closed as election time nears.

Romney's vice-presidential bid is difficult to assess. He had told the delegates and the press earlier in the day that he would not involve himself in any anti-Agnew movement. But at convention hall that fateful Thursday evening, there he was, out in front of the anti-Agnew roll-call.

There never was any chance that Agnew would be derailed. But Romney permitted himself to be cast in the role of the spoiler; he could have stopped it, but he permitted it to happen.

The next day he explained that he did it to permit those who were upset by Agnew's selection to vent their spleen, and thus the party could leave the convention unified. I find this rationale less than persuasive, although I have no doubt that Romney believes it implicitly. I doubt that anyone who was dissatisfied with Agnew before the vice-presidential balloting was any more satisfied after the vote. It's still a weak ticket, and a paved contest, and a day of strength.

Romney's other role at the convention was in questioning the platform in the area of economic policy; but he declined to seek to amend it. His performance here — in which he delivered what amounted to an unwelcome and unnecessary second speech for the platform, yet criticized one aspect of it — was a curious one. It added nothing to the deliberations of the convention, and accomplished nothing in the way of change. I must assume that Romney undertook this venture as a matter of personal conscience.

Romney's experiences on the national political scene since he became governor six years ago have not been happy ones.

The three elements of his performance here — the prolonged favorite son stance, the drama on the platform, and the figure-head role in challenging Nixon's choice for vice-president, embellished the popular notion of Romney as a chronic dissenter, a maverick, a loner.

WRAP-UP NOTES — It gave me quite a queer feeling to go into convention hall under the armed gaze of uniformed officers, with rifles at the ready. Other armed personnel patrolled the rooftops of the hotels near where the major candidates were staying, including the one where I slept, and one next door. It made you wonder anew: What's wrong with America? What is turning us into replicas of the banana republics of the south, or the totalitarian countries of the east and west? Tight security, necessary though it may have been, provided emphasis for the rhetoric of speaker after speaker who reminded us that something is wrong with our country.

One of the most unhappy men around last week must have been one who wasn't around at all. Lt. Gov. Bill Milliken had to stay back in Lansing. He was governor while Romney was out of the state. Milliken was top man in the Rockefeller forces in Michigan, but could not be in on the big show. His wife, Helen, filled in on many ceremonial functions here, while two close aides, John Stahlin and Don Gordon, handled the political end of Milliken's chores here.

Michigan's Rep. Jerry Ford did an outstanding job as presiding officer of the convention. Ford even had his own presidential-boom-going. H. L. Hunt, wealthy Texas oilman and ardent right-winger, was promoting Ford for president. Commented Ford: "I wish he'd stop."

CONVENTION OVERVIEW — It appears to me that the Republican ticket nominated here is not the strongest one it could have put forth. Nixon and Agnew will have a tough job against any of the top three Democrats now in the running. Nixon's selection of Agnew on the ticket, it seems to me, will not have a decisive effect in winning southern states for the Republicans, nor does it appeal especially to the young people. It will permit the Democratic nominee much more leeway in selection of a running mate; he, too, can name a border state or southern vice-presidential nominee if he wishes. The hottest Republican properties for the future appear to be Mayor John Lindsay of New York, Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee and Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon.

As for Gov. Romney, it appears that his influence within the party in the future will not be significant. But then, politics is a peculiar occupation. Two years ago, Spiro T. Agnew was a county official in Maryland. And six years ago, Richard M. Nixon entered what he believed was an irrevocable self-imposed exile from politics.

Oh, well; On to Chicago.

NROTC EXAM SET FOR DEC. 14

Vice Admiral Charles K. Duncan, Chief of Naval Personnel, has announced that the 23rd annual national competitive examination for the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) will be given on Dec. 14.

The Regular NROTC Program prepares a young man for a Navy or Marine Corps commission while he is studying at one of the 53 civilian colleges. All tuition fees, uniforms, and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives $50 per month subsistence allowance for not more than four years. During the summers between academic years, the student participates in interesting at-sea training periods as a Midshipman. After successfully completing a baccalaureate level college course and all military requirements, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps.

Eligible high school seniors and graduates should submit their application before Nov. 15. Application forms are available from high school counselors and Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers-B6411), Department of Navy, Washington, D.C., 20370.

10 Haircut!

The National Observer starts off a feature article on inflation with "Haircuts for $10, minus tip, bill for a family of four: $115 a week. Cost of medium-priced car: $9,900. An average-quality suit: $250." The Observer points out that prices appear fantastic, but they are what we expect to pay within a very few years if the present course of inflation and the depreciation of the dollar continues unabated.

Even more alarming than the steady advance in inflation is the apparent indifference of the people — or at least many of them — to what is going on. The Observer accounts for this indifference by pointing out the fact that during the past years, on the average, personal income for most people in terms of purchasing power has kept pace with inflation. Until very recently, most individuals have enjoyed a complacent ride on the inflation band wagon, but the day of reckoning is here. During the past two years, inflation — price increases — has been catching up to productivity. During the past two years, the purchasing power of the paycheck of a man with three dependents has declined.

As The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York writes, "For many Americans the apparent economic gains of the past two years have been only illusion created by inflation." The price of unbalanced government deficit spending is cheaper dollars and lower living standards. The remedy lies in bringing government spending into line with the taxpayers' ability to pay.

STATE FAIR OPENS FRIDAY AT 8 A.M.

The biggest bargain package in entertainment, information, and all-around fun will be opened at 8 a.m. Friday, Aug. 23.

It's the 119th Michigan State Fair, and it will run through Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 2.

E. J. (Jeff) Keirns, the new State Fair general manager, said the emphasis is on "free" this year. He explained that all Music Shell, Grandstand, and Coliseum big star attractions will be free to State Fair patrons.

The lineup of such attractions is perhaps the greatest in history, with such stars as the Young Americans, Ed Ames, Arthur Godfrey, the Cowbells, Frank Sinatra Jr., and George Kirby in the Music Shell; 15 horse shows in the Coliseum; and a smashing auto thrill show and some of the world's best aerial performers in front of the Grandstand.

Chamber of Commerce Minutes

Special meeting Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce, August 1, 1968, Chief Shoppengons Motor Hotel.

The regular meeting was called to order at 12:44 by President Burns.

Members present: Allan Barkley, Clyde Borchers, Gerald Burns, Ken Carlisle, Ray Elsey, Charles Flick, John Latuszek, Mahlon Riker, and Sal Truettner.

Members absent: William Kraus, Edmund Rutkowski, and Don Welsor.

Also present: Earl "Chum" Longworth (Manager), Marilyn Longworth (Business Secretary), and Alma Bucholtz.

This "special" meeting was called to act on the proposed change of Article 4, Section 6, of the Constitution and By-Laws. It was felt that it was unfair to the paid membership to continue people on the membership list for brochures, advertising, etc., who have not paid their current membership dues.

Motion by Barkley, seconded by Truettner, that the following be added to the Constitution and By-Laws:

Article 4, Section 7: A member four (4) months in the arrears shall be termed delinquent and shall be dropped from the membership rolls.

Carried unanimously.

Latuszek, Chairman of the Finance Committee, gave a brief report on a meeting of his committee (comprised of President Burns, Barkley, Kraus, and Manager Longworth). Chairman Latuszek presented to the Board the proposed suggestions of his committee. Motion by Borchers, seconded by Truettner, that the dues structure be increased from $35 to $50 on the first unit only to meet the increased expenses of operating the Chamber office. Carried unanimously.

Motion by Barkley, seconded by Carlisle, that this special meeting be adjourned. Carried. Marilyn G. Longworth Business Secretary

Regular meeting, Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce,

August 1, 1968, Chief Shoppengons Motor Hotel.

The regular meeting was called to order at 12:44 by President Burns.

Members present: Allan Barkley, Clyde Borchers, Gerald Burns, Ken Carlisle, Ray Elsey, Charles Flick, John Latuszek, Mahlon Riker, and Sal Truettner.

Members absent: William Kraus, Edmund Rutkowski, and Donald Welsor.

Also present: Earl "Chum" Longworth (Manager), Marilyn Longworth (Business Secretary), and Alma Bucholtz.

Manager Longworth read a letter from Portafill praising the citizens of Grayling for their cooperation while they were in the area filming for Consumers Power Company.

Manager Longworth reported on the Winter Activity brochure, the E.M.T.A. Snowmobile Ski Guide, the Michigan Snowmobile Magazine, and the Grayling coverage to be presented in the August 28th edition of the Bay City Times.

Minutes: The minutes of the July 18th meeting were approved as printed.

Treasurer Latuszek gave a financial report, and read a short list of bills. Motion by Barkley, seconded by Riker, that the bills be paid. Carried.

Membership Committee: A list of delinquent members was read by President Burns. Various board members were designated to call on the delinquent members.

New Members: Manager Longworth presented new membership applications for Bradford Recreation, Inc. and Paddle Brave Canoe Livery. Motion by Barkley, seconded by Latuszek, that both be accepted for membership. Carried.

Canoe Patches: Manager Longworth reported on the sales progress of the canoe patches. These patches are being sold to finance Grayling's share of the expenses for the Annual AuSable River Valley Canoe Race to be held on August 3rd.

Annual AuSable River Valley Canoe Marathon: Chairman Carlisle reported on the progress of the Canoe Race. All is in readiness for the start of the Race at Grayling.

Queens Pageant Committee: Marilyn Longworth gave a final financial report for the Queens Pageant Committee. It was termed that the Pageant Program had been a complete success due to the fine cooperation of many people, also to the good representatives for Grayling — Victoria Scheer, Miss Grayling 1968, and Mary Lou Sweig, Miss Michigan Winter Sports 1968. Motion by Truettner, seconded by Riker, that this Pageant report be accepted. Carried.

Queens Pageant Committee: Motion by Barkley, seconded by Borchers, that Mrs. Longworth be reimbursed for any expenses incurred by her in Muskegon at the Miss Michigan Pageant. Carried. Motion by Barkley, seconded by Truettner, that Mrs. Longworth continue as Pageant Director for the Pageant Program for 1968-69. Carried.

Unfinished Business: William Brady and Al Siewert were nominated for appointment to the vacancy on the Board created by the resignation of Harold Macklin. Barkley stated that he had contacted both and they agreed to serve. However Mr. Siewert stated that because of his heavy summer business, he might not be able to attend all meetings during the summer. Motion by Borchers, seconded by Elsey, that William Brady be appointed to fill the vacancy. Carried.

Manager Longworth was instructed to write to Mr. Brady of his appointment, and to Mr. Siewert stating that his name would be retained for future appointment when his schedule would allow his full participation.

Now Business:

President Burns appointed the following to make their annual call to the Crawford County Board of Supervisors for briefing on the Chamber of Commerce activities for 1968-69: Kraus, Latuszek, and John Alef. Motion by Barkley, seconded by Borchers, that Manager Longworth direct a letter to the Crawford County Board of Supervisors encouraging their approval of the Sunday Liquor Sales for Crawford County. Carried.

Borchers suggested that the Chamber consider for future projects the following: A Hall of Fame for the City Park and a parking lot for Lake Margrethe bathing visitors. Tabled for future discussion.

At 1:55 p.m. a motion was made by Latuszek, seconded by Barkley, that this meeting be adjourned. Next meeting to be called for August 15th.

Marilyn G. Longworth Business Secretary

Sally Louise Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll (Bud) Gould of 308 AuSable Court, and Ronald Dean Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Evans of Chapman, Kansas, were made man and wife in a splendid Nuptial Mass at St. Mary's Church on August 3, 1968. Rev. Fr. William McKnight performed the double-ring ceremony before 100 guests. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. William Hoffman.

Given in marriage by her father, Sally chose a satin gown with pearl-trimmed lace bodice and sleeves, the side lace panels flowing into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was held by pearl-trimmed petals, and she carried a cascade bouquet of roses. Following the ceremony she laid a presentation bouquet of yellow roses and Bells of Ireland at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Vaughn of Lansing, attired in avocado green and carrying yellow and white daisies. Karen Nielson was flower girl, similarly attired. Ring bearers were Kenny and Danny Vaughn, nephews of the bride.

Serving as best man was Mar Chrisco, while Bill Gould, the bride's brother, Kenneth Vaughn her brother-in-law, David Cinciala, and John Marshall seated the guests.

A reception was held from 7 to 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, including a buffet supper. Martel Bobenmoyer served the wedding cake, Phyllis Berry presided at the punch table, and Florence Douglas was at the gift table.

Sally has attended St. Mary's School and is a 1965 graduate of Grayling High. She attended Northwestern Michigan College at Traverse for one year. For the past year and a half she has been employed in the office at Mercy Hospital. Ron graduated from school in Chapman, Kansas, and is presently a surveyor with Williams Brothers having been in the area for two years.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Miss Eleanor Baumunk, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Baumunk and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stockwell, all of Big Rapids, Mrs. Luja Gilmore of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Evans of Chapman, Ks., and Mrs. Helen Dodge of Big Rapids.

To my friends, supporters, workers - and voters . . .

County - City Share Motor Vehicle Fund

LANSING — The State Highway Commission has started distributing second quarter Motor Vehicle Fund collections to Michigan counties and incorporated cities and villages.

Henrik E. Stafseth, state director, said net Highway Fund receipts during April, May and June totaled $87,090,769, an increase of $11,133,623 or 14.6 percent more than the same period of 1967.

Most of the increase is attributed to the cent-a-gallon increase in the gas tax which took effect last Jan. 1, he said. Crawford County's share is $88,932.00 while Grayling will receive $5,505.00.

The Motor Vehicle fund includes all state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes, and license plate fees. After deductions for collection costs and the State Waterways Commission's share, 46 percent goes to the state, 34 percent to the counties, and 20 percent to the 525 incorporated cities and villages, for use on state and local highways, roads and streets.

Under this formula, the Department of State Highways will receive $30,847,954, the cities $22,800,661, and the counties $35,343,154.

SCOUT LEADERS

TO ATTEND MEET

Boypower '76, the 8-year, long range plan of the Boy Scouts of America which will begin Jan. 1, 1969, will be the basis for a week's training in August for the professional staff on the Paul Bunyan Council, according to Arthur E. Henry, Scout Executive.

The National Training Conference will be held at Colorado State University Fort Collins, Colo., Aug. 25-31.

Scouting career men who will attend the professional launching of the new long-range plan include Paul D. Price, Chippewa District Executive, Midland; David J. Zilucki, Ausable District Executive, West Branch; James E. Sherman, The Pines District Executive, Gladwin; and Arthur E. Henry, Scout Executive of the Paul Bunyan Council.

Volunteer Scout leaders of the Paul Bunyan Council have already started to establish goals that will ensure the relevance of Scouting to the needs of youth, determine the level of quality to be maintained, secure needed personnel and resources, develop methods of fixing responsibility and measuring results, and establish understanding of aims and methods of the Boy Scouts of America with its partner institutions.

Specific numerical goals will be related to such items as boy members, Scout units, unit leader training, Scout units qualifying as national standard, professional staff, and local operating expenditures.

Henry will be working in the Public relations office a portion of the time while at the Conference. Mrs. Henry will also be in attendance at the Conference where they have special programs for the wives and children of the Executive staff.

Peter Funck Serving

ON USS Ticonderoga

USS TICONDEROGA (CVA-14) at sea (PHNOC) Aug. 7 — Fire Control Technician Second Class Peter A. Funck, USNR, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Funck of 409 Chestnut St., Grayling, has just completed a six-month deployment in the Gulf of Tonkin off the coast of North Vietnam aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ticonderoga.

As a crewmember, he helped to provide air support to U.S. and Allied ground forces ashore in South Vietnam. He also helped to provide the necessary support to the squadron of Air Wing 19 so that they could fly combat missions against the enemy.

When Ticonderoga completed her latest deployment, she became the first carrier to have completed four tours of duty on Yankee Station. The Ticonderoga is homeported in the Pacific.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

Seeing is Believing

Can you always believe what your eyes tell you?

An American tourist in a foreign country boasted of the wonders of his own land. "Why, we have telescopes that let us see millions of stars!"

He was jolted by the native's reply, "Maybe you see millions of stars and nothing beyond. We see only a few stars and God."

Are you looking for the stars and missing God... or harnessing the atom and losing your security... or chasing rainbows and missing the gold?

All of us need to look for what the heart can feel, not just what the eyes can see. We need to find God.

Why not look for Him in church Sunday? He is waiting for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Are You An Alcoholic?

Are you an alcoholic? If your answer is "I don't know," answer the following questions then yes or no:

1. Have you ever tried to stop drinking for week (or longer), only to fall short of your goal?
2. Do you resent the advice of others who try to get you to stop drinking?
3. Have you ever tried to control your drinking by switching from one alcoholic beverage to another?
4. Have you taken a morning drink during the past year?
5. Do you envy people who can drink without getting into trouble?
6. Has your drinking problem become progressively more serious during the past year?
7. Has your drinking created problems at work?
8. At social affairs where drinking is limited, do you try to obtain "extra" drinks?
9. Despite evidence to the contrary, have you continued to assert that you can stop drinking "on your own" whenever you wish?
10. During the past year have you missed work as a result of drinking?
11. Have you ever "blacked out" during your drinking?
12. Have you ever felt you could do more in your life if you did not drink?

What's your score? Did you answer YES four or more times? If so, chances are you have a serious drinking problem, or may have one in the future.

These questions were prepared by Alcoholics Anonymous World Services, Inc., who base them on the experience of tens of thousands of recovered alcoholics.

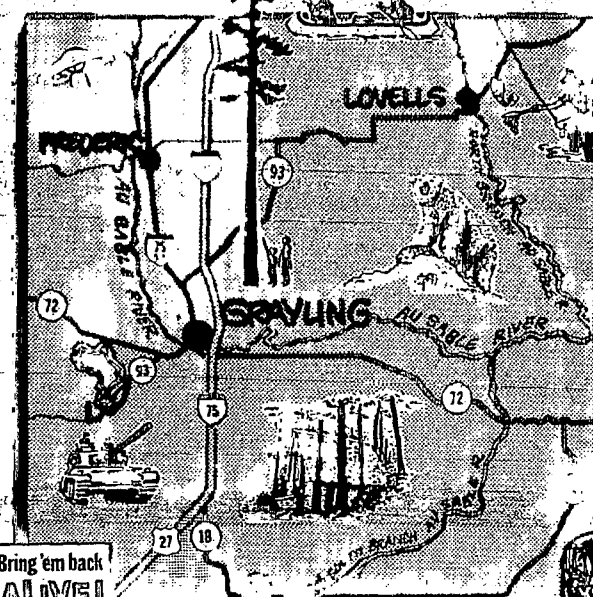

"Alcoholics Anonymous is a fellowship of men and women who share their experience, strength and hope with each other that they may solve their common problem and help others to recover from alcoholism."

"The only requirement for membership is a desire to stop drinking. There are no dues or fees for A.A. membership; they are self-supporting through their own contributions. A.A. is not allied with any sect, denomination, politics, organization or institution; does not endorse nor opposes any causes. Their primary purpose is to stay sober and help other alcoholics to achieve sobriety."

No one can tell someone else he has a drinking problem; this is something you can only tell yourself.

If you are interested in meeting with this organization every Thursday evening at the City Hall, phone 348-4561. 15-22-29-5

REFRESHING NOTE

In the August 1 issue of the Avalanche Ken Carlisle placed an ad asking for the return of a billfold one of his canoe customers had lost in the AuSable while making a canoe trip. Believe it or not, last week a group of boys found the lost billfold and returned it to its owner, complete with the three hundred dollars it contained.

Voice of the People

Rebuttal to Kalkaska Made by Marilyn Longworth on Channel 9, Cadillac

A very serious injustice has been done to Miss Victoria Scheer because of the adverse publicity advanced by Mr. Kimball.

The simple facts are:

(1) The invitation letter with entry form and official rules enclosed arrived in February. Miss Scheer completed the entry form, signing same and acknowledging that she had read the eight official rules accompanying this entry form and that she was complying with all eight rules in every way.

(2) On April 8 I sent a letter to Mr. Kimball stating that Miss Scheer in her capacity as Miss Grayling and also as 1st runner-up Miss Michigan Winter Sports had many duties. Therefore, so there would be no overlap of schedules, we would appreciate early receipt of a complete schedule of her year's activities as Trout Queen. We have never received any answer to this letter nor any communication whatsoever from Kalkaska.

(3) Our first communication arrived on June 29th when Mr. Kimball sent a letter to Miss Scheer stating that because of non-compliance of rules, she was exempted from all duties as Trout Queen.

(4) July 6th we requested that Mr. Kimball supply us with a copy of the actual rules that Miss Scheer had signed. On July 23rd we received a list of eleven official rules that Miss Scheer HAD NOT signed nor had we ever seen such a list with 11 rules, only that of eight rules Miss Scheer HAD SIGNED and copy of which was retained in our files.

In this modern day of emphasis on youth with the great importance of the values of honesty and integrity, it is very disheartening to a young lady of the high standards such as Miss Scheer possesses, to find that adult and responsible people would cause her this extreme embarrassment through misrepresentation.

August 3, 1968
Mr. Clifford Kimball, President
National Trout Festival, Inc.
Kalkaska, Michigan

Dear Mr. Kimball:
It has come to my attention that you, and the board of directors of the Kalkaska Trout Festival, have suspended Miss Victoria Scheer, Miss Grayling 1968, as your festival queen.

The reasons behind the suspension of this fine young lady, as stated in the news clips received by our office, seem to me to be very insufficient.

We demand, and expect, an explanation of this suspension. As an experienced Master of Ceremonies at many queen contests throughout the State of Michigan your festival's decision to suspend your 1968 queen is definitely not in the best interests of your community, county or the entire state of Michigan.

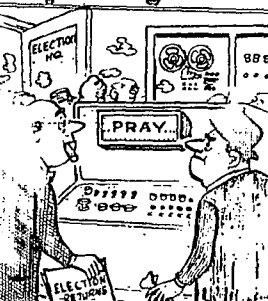

With all the hard work that it takes and the excellent exposure afforded your community from your festival, your action is a very narrow-minded and a most unneighborly decision.

If this rule is to stay in effect, we of the East Michigan Tourist Association plan to warn every community that has a queen to boycott your festival.

Those of us in Michigan who work so hard to keep harmony believe that this action is not in the best interests of statewide promotion of teamwork.

I am awaiting your answer...
A. Barry McGuire
Associate Manager

Women Lead Need For Wider Seats

Women have claimed another record in their fight for female supremacy.

A recent study of body dimensions shows that women have an average seat breadth of 14.4 inches, the men's 14.1 inches recorded by the average man. This was one of the few body measurements in which women exceeded men, a nationwide probability sample of 7,710 persons from ages 18 to 79 showed.

Man reaches his maximum seat breadth in the ages of 25 to 34. Women expand later in life reaching their maximum between the ages of 45 to 54. Such statistics are collected and used by the American Seating Company of Grand Rapids, Michigan, in its efforts to stay abreast of changes in the human shape. The 17- or 18-inch-wide theater seat used 25 years ago is obsolete, and most auditoriums are now using seats which are 20, 21 or 22 inches wide.

WASHINGTON AND Small Business

BY C. WILSON HARDEE

Pax Americana?

Some of the leading candidates for the presidency are promising that if elected there will be no more Vietnam.

While, of course, campaign promises are not the most reliable declarations ever made, there is good reason to believe that such promises are finding acceptance among the responsible people of the nation.

For sentiment coming in from the grass roots level all over the nation appears to be questioning the validity of continued American military adventures abroad.

Woodrow Wilson ran for reelection on the promise to keep the U. S. out of World War I. Eventually the nation tipped the balance and a victory was won, but all of Russia was turned over to communism.

World War I created the pressures that created World War II and again the U. S. was drawn in. But half or more of Europe was communist and practically all of Asia.

Thus, there is a growing question apparent in American minds as to the value on military undertakings in seeking to solve the problems of the entire world.

There is no question that the American military might is vast. If not kept under the thumb of civilian control pursuing vague policies as has been the case in Vietnam.

But warfare, especially modern warfare, extracts a terrible toll on the people of the world.

Enforcing the Pax Romana of old some 300 years ago Rome, but that was in the days when the chief weapon was the sword. The Pax Britannica enforced by England lasted a short time, but again weaponry was relatively low in cost, and that effort brought glory to its knees. Now in an era when the sophisticated weaponry necessary makes cheap victory impossible, any attempt to force a short duration, infernal war, is cause for concern.

While this nation undoubtedly must always maintain a strong defense establishment, there is a question as to whether the nation can ever afford to engage in military operations, primarily entered into to resolve internal disputes of other lands.

In the meantime, the American economy has been severely jeopardized. There is a substantial question just where the economy would be if it were not for Vietnam.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Bill Schoer
What were the three greatest football games ever played? A sports service recently took a survey to find out. In the opinion of experts from coast-to-coast... there are the three games picked:
Notre Dame 35, Army 19 in 1913... This game was picked because of its historic importance... This game, more than any other, proved the value of forward pass in football. Illinois 39, Michigan 14, in 1913... The game when Grange made runs of 44, 55 and 40 yards each for touchdowns in the first half... This is voted the best individual performance of all time.
1925 Rose Bowl... The historic meeting of football's famous backfield (Notre Dame's Four Horsemen) and man some call the greatest single back in history (Ernie Nevers).
